

WHAT IS THE JOURNEY OF THE MIND?

All the apparently separate minds tend to the Universal mind; how do they do this, if not through the creation of a reality which does not correspond to the thought of the subject or to the thought of the object? An idea, concept or thought of Reality, cannot be Reality; it is only the attempt of a system that, by investigating Reality through go-betweens (the five senses plus the brain) proposes a new event, thought, then another event, the word, then another event, listening, then another event, comprehension, then re-elaboration within the listener. And so on... Where is Reality? Certainly, it lies in the innumerable paths which are illusory yet seem real.

The life of sentient beings in the world appears interspersed by an indescribable quantity of errors: hatred, wars, separations of all kinds. What is right in one part of the world is wrong in another. Who is right? Those who win wars by killing. And yet this is the Way of the Universal mind.

Can this be considered wrong? Can this be considered right? Could the foolishness of this schizophrenia be wisdom? Who can say, since at the same moment in which you are reading this, you are constructing a unique reality within yourself, because in your profundity, in your mind, you are alone...with yourself.

Maybe, to some, wisdom is foolishness.

Maybe, for others, foolishness is wisdom.
