

A VISION OF THE BASE

The emergence of the vision (comprehension), is definitely not a philosophical-scientific theory or an opinion, or some sort of mental position. It is not only made up of the Reality of form or the Reality of Thusness-Emptiness, in Reality, it is without composition, devoid of emptiness but Luminous of a Nature which causes the Creation in the creature to emerge. The laceration of the darkness permits the Base to emerge from the fracture. This, in an infinitesimal fashion, is a bit like what the Absolute permits to happen in infinite Universes, a tear, from the darkness, in a point and behold! - a Universe of Light. This point, this Light, has always been within us; ignorance-lack of awareness keeps it hidden like a veil that became heavier, or lighter, through passions, aversions, anger, ignorance, stupidity, desire and attachment, the creation of destiny and then again, ignorance and lack of awareness.

I hope that “Useless Words” will make the “Veil” thinner. Flashes of light in front of a mirror reflect the entire course of the Creation. This adamantine wisdom is only reflected by those who have revolutionized or converted the base of everything and who have a vision of it, as their wisdom is flooded by a flash of the Light of the Creation. Have you NEVER thought of being that flash? Who was there, if not us, at the beginning? It was a good beginning, wasn't it? And so, participants in the one flash, what will we do with our lives? A foolish and illusory wait for the end of the run, A Search for Equality in the flash, or the dark veil of a “You? NO!”? Where is the great compassion of this wisdom? The seeker of spiritual realization sees the identity of phenomena and sees the connections, hence the equality. In Reality the Undefined, interrupted, Paradise, is already here. The seeker's acts regarding suffering respects the inclinations of sentient beings.

Due to the identity of phenomena in distinguishing the difference, one proceeds to have a consciousness without obstacles, capable of interpreting the laws of Creation in a single Vision and, by proposing it to sentient beings, free them from illusion and doubt. It is now necessary to continue using permanent wisdom, which utilizes all knowledge to develop compassion and expresses itself in every direction and action; it is certainly the “vision of the Base,” thus it operates in form through action which is intermittent, given the type of world we live in. This action is subjected to events which are (apparently) not subtle, phenomena of and in destiny. These should be studied:

First – what causes events

Second – what determines their duration

Third – what causes the course towards the end

Fourth – why and what causes the annulment or annihilation, therefore, the disappearance of an event.

The perfection of the Absolute has already perfectly created the System and DOES NOT INTERVENE IN ITSELF by performing modifications (as it is perfect). It is the Base-Thusness which already is. What consciousness has such a wisdom? Outside of the thoughts within You? BE! Light? USELESS words.

The Word Emptiness of: 5 layers – space – beginning/end duality – Emptiness of Emptiness – Its phenomena/content – Paradise – and the Nature that Transcends things – isn't all of the above a nice DO NOT BE for you! Fools will say that I'm contradicting myself in comparison with what I said before. Seekers of spiritual realization feel the truth within, and overcome the dichotomy. The Seekers who desire to achieve super-consciousness, the super-awareness of the “Base,” will undergo four types of teaching, therefore four types of learning:

- First: undetermined teaching, destined for whoever listens. Each person interprets words in their own way, therefore, USEFUL WORDS, deceptively the same for everybody. The demons draw “their” own conclusions, DIFFERENT from those of sentient beings, Different from those of the SEEKER, different from those who know the “USELESS WORDS.”
- Second: teaching for the few, even if in a huge assembly is present. The words go towards the “right” ears, not towards those whose ears are covered by a “wooden collar” (I CHING). No one realizes which ears they or others have. The same happens while reading these writings.
- Third: teaching which develops in a gradual manner, which permits the maturation of those who read (listen) in a path of growth towards the foundations of the most elevated “thoughts,” to train their minds to the subjects of these Useless Words.

- Fourth: teaching through the direct method, for those whose Nature is Superior and who are ready to experience the Base of Thusness-Emptiness without USELESS Words!

Sounds easy! Perception of the immaterial dimensions, of Nothingness, of NON perception, of absolute indifference, of Infinite Consciousness and of infinite space. Nice words?

All this lies only in the path, in timelessness they are moments...or eons? It's the same. And now the nature of destiny leads or does not lead to “the Tear of Light of the Base.” WHAT ARE YOUR INTENTIONS? You arrived there because you were seeking (whatever you were seeking is right) and your determination achieved maximum precision (your entire self to hit the bull's eye). Then you departed, in the destiny of this life. Some combinations are “distractions,” but those who “take aim” do not become distracted. In order to produce the outcome, you have to make your “maximum effort,” knowing that it is useless (NON-ACTION).

Experimentation leads to the acquisition of consciousness of the Nature of Things. Everyone has the right (duty?) to experiment! “Horror!” they will say. Yes to this and no to that!

Best wishes for (your) right path. If you do not experiment, you are NOT acting with what destiny places in front of you, you are not permitting the result to acquire consciousness in FORM.

Destiny is unique and individual...

Finally, destiny is realized in its vastness for those who have experienced “everything” (in countless lifetimes, perhaps. Is one enough?) the result will come. Therefore Different Paths (all perfectly RIGHT-DIFFERENT-hence Equal) have their beginning in the Reality of form.

1. Beginning by believing that all the nature of form is composed exclusively of the particles and the consciousness which appreciates them. Therefore, the reality of the world of phenomena appreciated by moments (moment by moment), from the present consciousness in that space, therefore BEGINNING-end.
2. Beginning by believing that reality is relative even if it is real. Human perception interprets through the senses but cannot really perceive the world of form which, consequently, is only interpreted, the experience remains “unreal.” Only interactions of (strings – quanta – particles – Atoms) Consciousness.
3. Beginning by believing that a relative, absolute therefore actual reality does exist, but that all of this exists only because it is appreciated by the mind; thus the Nature of Things is empty and does not have its own existence. This is comparable to Thusness, which however becomes consciousness due to the presence of the sentient being in the creation.
4. Beginning by believing that the reality of (relative) phenomena is pure illusion, its function is to to hide the very essence of the ULTIMATE REALITY from the FREE CONSCIOUSNESS of the sentient being-creature.

Your starting points are the same but it is good to know. let's move on to the crossing towards that non-goal, non-ending, which is not waiting for you as it is infinitely or infinitesimally distant (it's the same): THE BASE.

In order to proceed along the path, certain characteristics are required: the first is to have the capacity to reach a particular, very elevated, state of concentration on parts and composts of parts, therefore conditioned in their totality; of Values (momentarily notions, then experienced perceptions); of phenomena generated by conditions, causes and concauses of perfection which cannot be described with useful words but...perhaps with useless words.

It is possible to achieve a fluid state of interaction with the nature of form and thus with the origin, the Base in the mind. So much, that one can perceive a sort of fusion between the sentient being who loses the fusion before the Tear in the Darkness and what was created for his freedom (all that is conceivable and that what is not conceivable).

The Base expresses its huge potential of freedom, excessively multiplying from the first Phenomenon, due to the Absolute-Darkness-Tear-Energy. All in a “moment,” with a sequence of phenomena composed and conditioned by preceding phenomena.

The increase “conditioned” by the preceding causes generates new conditions which in turn produce new phenomena. It's that simple!; How many passages of the “world” of phenomena exist and express themselves in a transitory fashion From the Tear to this writer? ALL. ALL destined to end, to die... in order to give life to the “New.” From the New to the next New, from the Universe with this Base to the next with: this Base + “the Free experience of consciousness in this world.”

This phenomenon is going to die (for example, as in black holes) and from the Uncontaminated Absolute, innumerable Tears will appear - new adventures of the FREEDOM IN/OF THE CREATION.

There can be no beginning or end in the Absolute. There is a sequence – timeless – of phenomena due to the Tear, these phenomena are infinite precisely because they are timeless.

We are worms, all sharing a single apple-Universe, we feel UNIQUE! That is a nice thing for worms to feel!

We cannot CANCEL THE ABSOLUTE as there is no beginning and no end. The CREATOR IS NOT LIMITED BY ANYTHING, It cannot be limited by the thought of sentient beings, small, large, big, “short” or elevated as they may be. It seems that the mind generates something, like this writing, but that is not the case. It is the result of an enormous series of interconnected and interconnecting events – The Base, evolution, results – which, in this sequence, leads to what is contained in this moment.

But...it has already passed!

Again...Innumerable types of causes lead to freedom, in the thought of “this participant in the tear,” “prey” of the Base, continuously co-participant in the birth and death of apparent phenomena like illusory flashes. I would say that the Absolute, the Only CAUSE WHICH GENERATES INFINITE UNIVERSES, Is a Producer of Results WHICH are CERTAIN AND SPECIFIC.

The Universe itself is AS THE ABSOLUTE DESIRES (and it is the same for the other infinite universes). We can now understand how we, “results” of Its Will, are free to “enrich” (Always for the Will of the Absolute) the next Universe where we will transmigrate. New Base!

What happens within the sentient being with these (“many”) useless words?

Sentient beings, perceiving in themselves, beyond the value (if any) of what has been said, acquire consciousness of the “Theater of illusory phenomena,” the ability to dissipate the obstacles in the mind and to, energized, continue along the path of the destruction of the veil of the Base and, Finally, feel that they possess the attributes of seekers of spiritual realization in this world of “slaves.”

A beautiful superhero finale - too bad that it will happen to the sentient beings who will read (with conceit, ignorantly, spouting classic phrases such as “I already knew that!” etc.) and only understand what they deserve to understand. They will say that these words are useful and that they have understood everything. But seekers of spiritual realization will see that they are approaching a change (wherever they are, alone or accompanied, sane or crazy) that will render their lives an ocean of stages (levels) and states (inner situations). They will obligate themselves to become a new situation of Energy, interconnected with the preceding ones.

Awareness shakes the veil of illusion that hides from sight the Light of the Tear which we carry within Ourselves, that will accompany us until the end of the Universe... and then, Gone, to a new adventure like Eternal Wanderers in the Absolute CREATION.
