

ON THE BOUNDARY-NON BOUNDARY

The Absolute Unites and Separate as It pleases, thus It sets Boundaries and, if It Wishes, does not set Boundaries, Creates and Unites Itself to the Creation or does not, therefore, Infinite Creation, Infinite Non Creation. But does this Separation, Boundary, Threshold exist or not ?

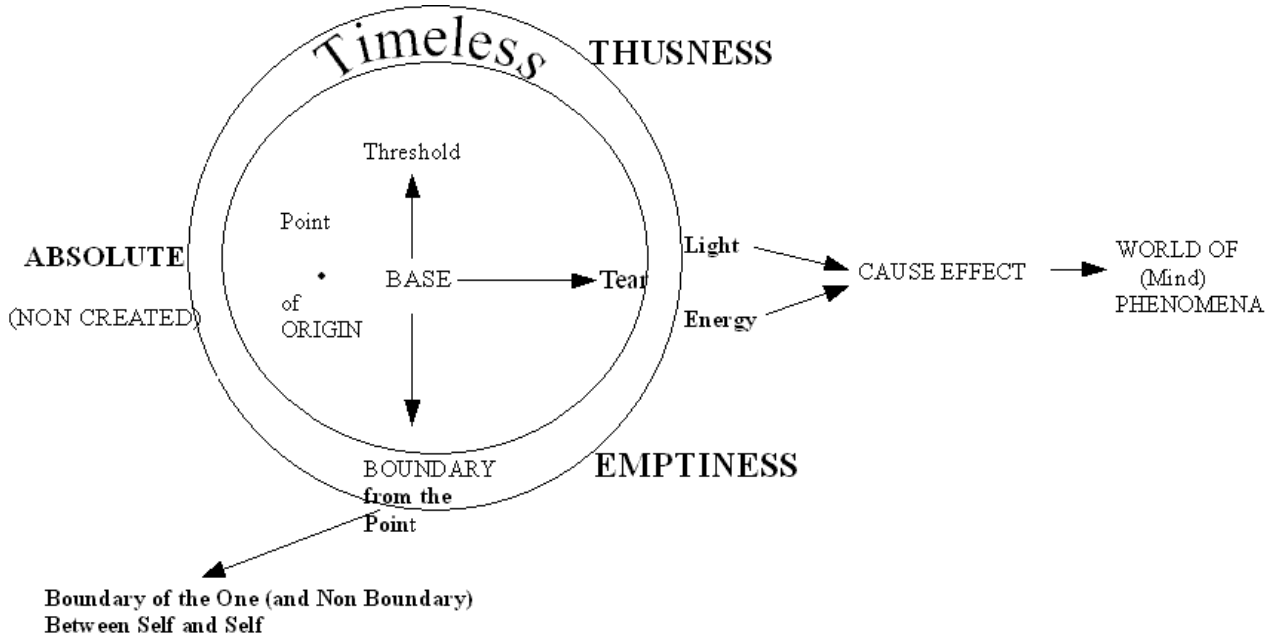

Fig.2

Everyone lives a sort of attachment to their own comprehension and to the words that they use to translate it. Can we kill off some of the meanings or values of the words within us and put “new creatures” in? That would allow us to perceive new meanings. But can we be sure that residues of what was keeping us in the darkness have really been left behind, so that we can perceive, with discernment, that which is... not “new” as the mind suggests, but...”old” like the illusory age of the Universe? (Fig. 2)

In the creation, the Threshold of an entire universe “divides” itself into every sentient being and is called SOUL. The word “divide” can be considered “useful” when it is understood as separation in the division; but if the division, though it exists, maintains the union, it is like dividing a boundary which is Infinite on one side and infinitesimal on the other, while maintaining the connection. Therefore on one side of the Threshold, the Absolute with Its Infinity, on the other side of the Threshold, sentient beings with their infinitesimal world of phenomena.

What a wonderful Boundary for us, NON Boundary for That Which Donates Freedom to us!

There it is, ready, PARADISE, the access to the beginning of the universe, the point which we carry with us, divided (a useless word if you truly perceive it) into innumerable sentient beings in this universe, and divided into infinite beings in the infinite Universes.

There it is, the point that projects us in the organization of the mind, and therefore of the freedom of joy or suffering. This is why the BASE organizes us and assimilates every evolution so as to be there at the next Tear.

This is the pure empty essence of the boundary for us (NON Boundary for the Absolute that cannot be placed within boundaries). Its Nature of Luminous and Non Luminous Energy (every string, quanta, proton, electron are pure per se) proceeds to interact until the creation of the sentient being which is pure as when it is born; then the mind, thought, so-called “impurities”... another word that should be replaced with “experimentations” in freedom, Desired and Created by the Absolute.

That having been said, “pure” and “impure” are dualities which organize favorable and unfavorable conditions along the evolutionary path.

Every event is the response to a preceding phenomenon, with a concatenation of answers which become interconnected traces between the “initial Base,” the “evolutionary Base” and the “Realized Base.”

To put it in words, these “seem” to be three separations but it is always the Pure Beginning which acquires the “elements” in a Pure way. That is, the traces of our path. This to subsequently “determine” other Universes. Only the Absolute determines. But His OMNIPERVADENCE “PERVADES,” FROM THE POINT, THE ENTIRE INFINITE CREATION. WITHOUT TIME! Therefore neither past, nor future but ETERNAL PRESENT!

Now we are talking about a probable error that the mind can “organize”: a state of torpid happiness, a sensation of neutrality towards events, while at the same time prey to the illusion that does not know and becomes ignorant in order to remain serene. Beware, the mind plays its innumerable games of freedom.

We must be indivisible from the entire universe, experience it, aware of the dissolution of all things, therefore of the certain illusion that exists and does not wait for us; because for us the boundary, in our world of phenomena, lies in apparent time - but for the Absolute it is Reality, which has no boundary. So for the One Truth, time does not exist. The only possibility is to permeate ourselves in the Base, perceive its Perfection...and the Divine law becomes Reality.
