

ON THE EQUANIMITY IN THE WORLD OF PHENOMENA

Like grains of sand blown by the wind and rained on, we sink among the “others” (others?). Air currents lift us up, then take us out to sea, then to the abyss. Who can say who is following the best path or the worst path, who is doing better, who worse? Due to the Perfection of the Absolute, I believe that we experience all the innumerable aspects (signs) of Its Creation (for the infinite ones, “in the next”, “already existing,” “future”).

Only Thusness possess no aspects or signs.

We were saying that the Path which leads to the Absolute lies in the world of phenomena, it is not a penalty for some and a prize for others; rather, it is A Harmony of Infinite Experiences that, we experience as representatives of the “Value of Freedom.”

Sentient beings can also believe that they have only one life and so have no chance of understanding the Perfection of the Absolute: they “see” the Absolute condemn some to suffering and others to happiness. They torment themselves over the apparent, absurd incomprehension of the Justice and Perfection of the Absolute, the “Does God exist or does God not exist” dilemma. All that is left to them is their faith, depending on what part of the world they were born in, so... (I'm speaking ironically) they wish “death to the others,” but...they don't say it (they can't), they just do it! (Not always; sometimes they get tired).

Once we have understood that some have no way out in regarding such a diatribe (the one about “reincarnation” - but because it deals with “flesh” in the world of form, I would use the term “Continuity of Existence” instead), let's discuss those who are doubtful (vacillating bowl) and those who are stable. The Creation is perfect because we all perfectly enjoy its freedom but, in order for it to be Perfect Freedom, it must be Eternal. A Long life should never be “an obligation” for the acquisition of Consciousness and Wisdom, better to live just long enough to remain free. Life is not a lottery with an absurd non-understanding of the fact that the Ways of God are perfect, not a Game of Dice that only Human craziness (Freedom) – without any explanations because it doesn't know any – would administer to us.

Some will ask “who ever came back from the dead?”. The answer: “Here I am! I return from the dead every time I'm born!”, One could reply, “that's easy to say, but he doesn't remember anything!”.

First: You don't remember; but millions of sentient beings have remembered, but they are ignored because those in power don't want this subject to be discussed - they would lose their power. Eternal beings cannot be ruled over, but you can rule over poor, wretched, weak mortals (“you only live once,” “heaven and hell,” “luck” etc.), because they FEAR! So let's maintain the FEAR!

Second: Why I am good-looking, smart, rich, intelligent, etc... but don't care about others? Why does another person live and die without having obtained anything from life? The Absolute is perfectly Just, in every Instant of every being's life, the Base is Its Perfect Law. Every phenomenon-event is perfect, up until “the last String”!

After this brief discussion regarding the Continuity of Being (ASK ANY QUESTION- I WILL ANSWER) I can now discuss equanimity in the world of phenomena. It's EASY to understand that, after what has been said, one would spontaneously ask: who judges? Who gives out sentences? Who is better, who worse? Who is a friend, who an enemy? Who comes first, who later? Who's right, who's wrong? Who are you? Were you my GRANDFATHER one or more lives ago? Why do I hate you? Were you my mother? My son? My best friend, my enemy? Now we are ready to be freed from every aversion and from any kind of attachment, ready to become unable to feel hate or aversion for any other (Other?) sentient beings.

We have temporary friends and enemies, it is the Base that permits us to freely experiment “the not remembering” who we are, IT IS MY FREEDOM and YOURS.

In freedom, we experience ourselves, from one life to the next, this is the Perfection of the Creation. Never again a blind deaf and dumb faith (because it doesn't know and has no coherent answers). Here is the Perfection of Events in the World of Phenomena!

This is the reason for all the differences! (MORE ABOUT THAT LATER).

However, this Equanimity in the World of Phenomena must not lead you to a state of indifference regarding the ineluctability of destiny, because OUR reactions to events determine future events. It is for LOVE (a useless Word to be “completed,” if that will ever be possible) that we need this equanimity.

The illusion that we have only one life leads us to have friends and enemies (someone who organizes a lot of enemies for himself is speaking to you right now).

But even if you have enemies, you can decide not to be one yourself! They believe that they are enemies, and act on it; but for you, the seeker of spiritual realization, a Just Loving Impartiality is mandatory and will lead you to the Equanimity in the world of phenomena.

No more attachments to friends and relatives, but real love; no more hatred towards enemies and relatives, but love. A restricted vision of life, of existence, leads to a “restriction” in profundity and renders the comprehension of the Perfection of the Creation, therefore of the Perfection of the Absolute, therefore of the Perfection of Its Laws in which we Are One, impossible.
